Additional TA-related comments (e.g., about the discussion/lab/studio section, TA's teaching style, etc.)

One of the best TA's I've ever had. Matt teaches very slowly and is especially reactive and respectful of student concerns. You rock

matt whiteway was a fantastic TA

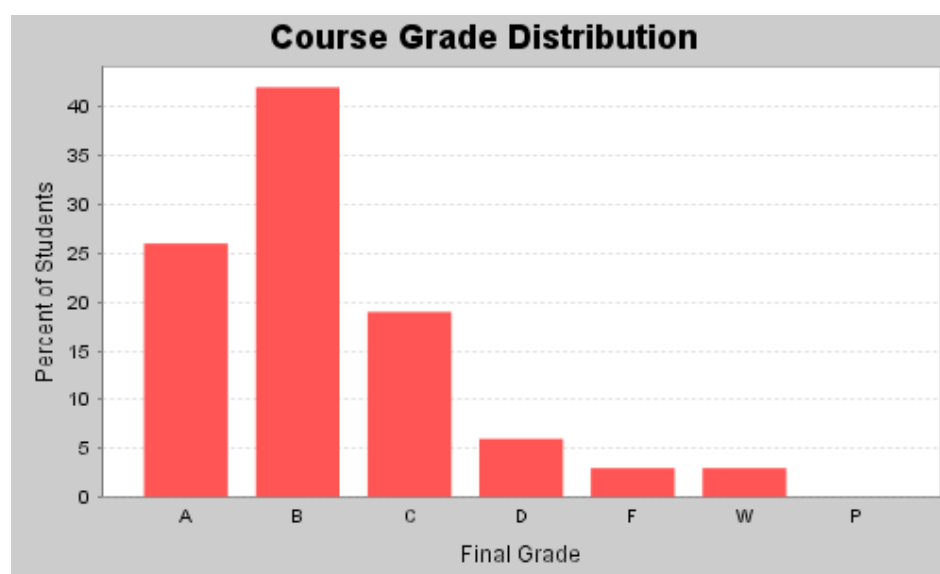

Discussion became lectures; lectures supplemented discussion. TA could teach the class. Short quizzes were reasonable, meant to check for understanding. TA was very considerate, taking time to provide answer keys to quizzes and exams.

Matt did an excellent job of picking up the slack where Renjie could not teach us the material.

Matt was an excellent TA. He listened to his students, and helped as best he could. He was also really good at teaching and making up for the lack of good lecture instruction. He was also down-to-Earth and had realistic expectation from the students. He should keep it up.

Hands-down the best math TA out there. He did everything he could to help his students. The professor was very new at teaching, so he had little experiencing lecturing. The professor was therefore not that great at explaining all the material. Matt, on the other hand, was fantastic at explaining things. He's where I learned most of the stuff from the course. He had great examples prepared and did his best to make sure that everyone understood. I'm going to nominate him for the TA award through the math department.

Matt Whiteway is the reason I did so well in this class. It's hard to find a TA who cares so much for his students and is so effective. He organizes his discussions fantastically, and I would not be getting A's in that class without him.

Grade distribution is current as of January 9, 2014 and includes students receiving a W for the course.
